

Science and Democracy Network
Annual Meeting Program
Wiener Auditorium – Taubman Building
John F. Kennedy School of Government
July 22-24, 2004

Thursday, July 22, 2004

1:00-1:15 Registration

1:15-1:30 Welcome and Introductions

1:30-2:15 Key Note Speech: Brian Wynne (Lancaster University)

2:15-5:15 Panel 1: Representation and Democratic Vision

Chair: Clark Miller (University of Wisconsin-Madison)

Rapporteur: Frank Laird (University of Denver)

Mark Brown (California State Univ.-Sacramento): Citizen Panels and the Concept of Representation

R. Alta Charo (University of Wisconsin): Passing on the Right Conservative Bioethics is Closer Than It Appears

Harald Heinrichs (Program Group 'Humans, Technology, Environment'

Research Center Jülich, with co-authors Han Peter Peters): The Public Risk Construct of Climate Change and Coastal Protection: Transformation and Cultural Appropriation of Expert Knowledge in Mass Media-based Communication

James Wilsdon (Head of Strategy, Demos, UK): The Politics of Small Things: Nanotechnology, Risk and Uncertainty

Friday, July 23, 2004

8:30-9:00 Coffee and Continental Breakfast

9:00 -12:00 Institutions

Chair: ???

Rapporteur: Patrick Hamlett (North Carolina State University)

Bruce Goldstein (Virginia Tech): Scientific Certainty and the Co-Destruction of Science and Social Order

Hideyuki Hirakawa (Kyoto Women's University): Reinvention of Food Safety Policy in Japan: Scientific and Political Tasks Ahead

Willem Halffman (University of Twente, NL, with coauthors Rob Hoppe): Science/Policy Boundaries: A Changing Division of Labour in Dutch Expert Policy Advice

Roopali Phadke (Harvard University): Countermapping Knowledge and Power: Building the Uchangi Dam

12:00-2:00 Lunch Break (WTO and Global Governance)

2:00-5:00 Citizenship and Participation
Chair: Tim Forsyth (London School of Economics)
Rapporteur: Kate O'Neill (U.C. Berkeley)

Alastair Iles (U.C. Berkeley): Citizens Identifying Chemical Uncertainties in Consumer Products: A Changing Civic Epistemology of Regulatory Science?

Mrill Ingram (University of Wisconsin): Regulating the Alternative: The Organic Agriculture Movement and the Emergence of U.S. Federal Organic Standards

Barbara Ley (University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee): Strategic Uncertainties: The Construction of Science and Politics in U.S. Environmental Breast Cancer Activism

Malte Schophaus (University of Bielefeld): Global Social Movements, Expertise and the Uncertainty-Paradox: The Scientific Advisory Board of Attac-Germany

6:30-9:00 Conference Dinner
Reception and light supper for all participants at Sheila's house (details to be provided)

Saturday, July 24, 2004

8:30-9:00 Coffee and Continental Breakfast

9:00-10:00 Rapporteurs Presentations – Round Table
Moderator: Stephen Hilgartner (Cornell University)

10:30-11:00 Break

11:00-12:30 Reflections: Practical Matters

1:00 Adjourn